Find the Answers to Your Troubling Questions?

Have you ever questioned why females cannot be priests? Ever wondered why priests are not allowed to marry? Have you ever thought the church was 'out of touch' with her teachings on sexuality and contraception?

The answers to these questions, and many other often troubling ones, can be found within Pope John Paul II's “Theology of the Body”, and will be answered during the conference by guest speaker Christopher West.

Thank You!!

Points to Ponder

On June 19, 2009, His Holiness Pope Benedict XVI declared the "The Year of The Priest", which concludes on June 19, 2010, (Feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus). This year is meant to be a time of prayer for the sanctification and renewal of the clergy. During his announcement, the Holy Father reiterated the church's teachings on the male celibate priesthood.

So why would the Pope call for prayers for the renewal of the clergy, and at the same time remind the faithful that this calling is only for the celibate male? To some this may seem like a contradiction, or Rome simply being 'stuck in its ways'.

In a culture fixated on sex, the celibate vocation in general, not just the priestly vocation, is even more important. The celibate vocation is meant to remind the non-celibate that there is a greater love than the love expressed by man and wife in the 'One Flesh Union'. So what is this love that's greater than the love of man and wife? The Love of God! In other words, the celibate priesthood opposes the MTV culture head-on and boldly proclaims that there is more to life than sex!

There are countless references within Sacred Scripture that refer to the Church as the Bride of Christ. In much the same way, the parish priest devotes his life to Christ's bride, the parish. The all male priesthood ensures that a fruitful love exists between the bride-groom and the bride (Christ and His Church).

Like many of the Church's teachings, a full understanding can be achieved within a few paragraphs. We encourage those interested in these topics to attend the upcoming Theology of the Body conference, during which topics such as the celibate priesthood will be discussed in greater detail by Christopher West.

Recommended Reading

Called To Love: Approaching John Paul II's Theology of the Body by Carl Anderson, (Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus) and Father José Granados (New York Times Bestselling author) is a thoughtful and accessible work on the beauty of love and the splendor of the body inspired by the works and writings of Pope John Paul II.

As they explain, the body speaks of God, it reveals His goodness, and it also speaks of men and women and their vocation to love. Called to Love brings to life the tremendous gift that Pope John Paul II bestowed on humanity, and gives readers a new understanding of the Christian way of love and how to embrace it fully in their lives.

What Others Have Said

From our Theology of the Body Workshops:

- Reinforces the sanctity of the Sacrament of Holy Matrimony and our belief that God created man and woman for his glory.
- It is biblically inspired
- I am very pleased with the teaching today
- Very informative, educational
- These helped to clarify answers about sexuality, the church and God for not only myself but in terms of answering questions posed by my high school students.
- Discovering the true meaning of marriage and the relationship with our God and Church. The workshop covers the whole glimpse of life – single or married
- The theology – too many examples to mention. One of the great blessings is that the more one knows of the Church, the more beautiful the understanding becomes.
- I gained a lot of knowledge about sexuality and the church's teaching.
- Christopher West's presentation provides the clearest explanation of Catholic principles that I have heard or read. Most enlightening. Many thanks
- Christopher West is very passionate and informative on the Pope's message. It makes you question yourself – Are we truly understanding God's purpose for our lives? Each week I learned more about myself and how I looked at the Church's views on sex and Marriage, Celibacy, etc.
